Re: Snowhill Cemetery

Public Works has been approached to provide fill dirt to remedy several eroded areas of a local historic cemetery.

Snowhill Cemetery was founded in 1885 and is located on County Road 621 between Blue Ridge and Farmersville. Although small, the cemetery has historical significance serving as the burial place for some of Collin County's founders. The owners have limited funds but desperately need fill dirt to address the aforementioned erosion. These conditions could constitute a health hazard as a result of standing water attracting mosquitoes and snakes.

Public Works receives most of our fill dirt from various construction projects free of cost and could execute this request with minimal expenditure and resources.

Should you require additional information, please contact me and I will respond accordingly.
